Dylan Thomas Boathouse

Ginst Point

Why Walk?

There are information panels at viewpoints points along the way and sections of both walks follow the Wales Coast Path which provides breath-taking views across the bay. Both walks have strong associations with Dylan Thomas.

How Long?

St John's Hill walk is 2.6 Km (just over 1½ miles). Dylan's Walk is 4.6 Km long. (approx. 3 miles).

How Hard?

Dylan's Walk to the north east is over relatively level ground for most of the way. The route is surfaced as far as Dylan Thomas's writing shed and Boat House. Further along there are fields and short uphill sections on rough farm tracks. Sir John's Hill walk is hillier in nature, with a short flight of steps, grassy tracks, fields to cross and a short section of country lane.

Dylan's Walk:

- 1 Laugharne Castle - first established in 1116 but the towering walls date to the 15th and 16th centuries as a fortified country house. The salt marshes have developed in area over the last 100 years or so – in the Middle Ages, boats could come right up to the castle walls.

2 The Boathouse was home to Dylan Thomas from 1949 to 1953. It was a pub in the 1880s – The Ferry House Inn – and later a boat building and repair yard.

3 Cliffside Path until the 1950s, an open boat from Ferry Point to Laugharne was operated on the tide by a single boatman.

4 Ferries and River Crossings - Ferries crossing the Taf Estuary since the Middle Ages have been used by kings, bishops, pilgrims, merchants and many others.

5 Wales Coast Path - The Wales Coast Path links Laugharne with St Clears to the north and Pendine to the west.

6 St Martin's Church - A 13th century Church. Dylan Thomas is buried in the new graveyard, marked with a simple white crucifix.

Sir John's Hill Walk:

7 Coporation Boundary - At the stile, look for the inscription on the rock. Excellent views back along the Taf estuary and seaward to the National Trust's Wharley Point, Cover Cliff and Black Scar Ferry.

8 Laugharne Marsh - Land reclaimed from the sea since the Middle Ages. Out towards Ginst Point you can see 'The Freething' and 'The Saltings' sea walls. Late 18th century ploughing in regular ridges can still be very clearly seen today.

9 The Lees - Low-lying common land (40 small strips or shares) belonging to the Corporation of Laugharne, first granted by Sir Guy de Brian in 1291 and with cast-iron pillars marking the bounds.

10 Coygan Quarry - Seen at a distance, an outcrop of carboniferous limestone with an extensive cave system. Some 38,000 years ago the cave was a Hyena den. Crude stone hand tools used by Neanderthal men were also found in the cave.

11 Back Lane - According to Mary Curtis, there was much slaughter along this part of the route when the Castle was stormed by Cromwell's soldiers.
